

C-us

The perfect parking spot for a home studio and office is featured in the March issue of Canadian House & Home.

With this project we took a standard house garage on a high performance ride and parked eye-catching results out back.

As much a design project this transformation showcases our effective use of space optimization and planning along with our immense capacity to interpret clients needs.

Click here to view the entire House & Home feature article.

www.celineinteriors.com